

RushNet, Inc., with its Ownership Interest in, and Access to Deep Artesian Wells, will produce KnockoutPunch™, Awater™ and Ewater™. This Pristine, Mineral-Rich, Ancient Water will also be used in the cultivation of the Industrial Hemp Operations for RushNet Inc. and for XYZ Hemp (GRPS).

RushNet, Inc. (OTC Pink: RSHN) announces part ownership in deep artesian wells, with an appraised value in excess of $40,000,000 provides access to an immense aquifer reserve, to be employed for its production of various beverages, including KnockoutPunch™, Awater™ and Ewater™. “We feel that this resource for our beverage products, as well as for the cultivation of hemp products will result in superior and pristine products. This is a substantial step towards the creation of an incredible product, especially in combination with the other attributes of these products,” said CEO Frank DeAngelo.

“Water is gold. There simply isn’t enough of it, particularly of such pristine, mineral rich water. Indeed, this previously untapped water reserve adds substantially to our proprietary formulae,” Chief medical officer, Dr Richard Goulding agrees, continuing:

“This ‘ancient,’ mineral rich water is proving to be as valuable as it is scarce. And perhaps more importantly, the data strongly supports beneficial responses to a myriad inflammatory disease states, as well as Alzheimer’s. This unique water has a wealth of mineral value and its pristine untapped nature will make it a highly sought product. It’s definitely not your run-of-the-mill store-bought water. It has the valuable mineral properties which it is not found in the mineral deprived water which we typically consume. I am convinced that the medicinal value this water brings is far from fully appreciated. I think it will make RushNet products particularly unique and efficacious. I am convinced that KnockoutPunch™, Awater™ and Ewater™, as compelling as they would otherwise be, will now be far superior.”

The Company also feels that some of these properties of this ancient water will be peculiarly well suited to KnockoutPunch™. We have no doubt that KnockoutPunch™, Awater™ and Ewater™ will also be a superior product, blessed with these invaluable and unparalleled, mineral properties.
